

Mladen Velimirovic Film Director, Screenwriter and Photographer

Mladen immersed in visual arts, film and photography from an early age.

He grew up in a well known family of film-makers, where he learned about the techniques of film production both by observing and assisting in a wide range of large artistic productions.

Since then he studied film making and strategic management in Great Britain.

He directed and produced films and is an award winning film maker who participates at significant number of film festivals with his projects or as a jury member and cooperates with film and other cultural institutes around the globe.

Mladen's visual art work is internationally represented through both films and photography presentations.

Among other films, he directed and produced a documentary film in Greece about island of Amorgos , "Loving Amorgos".